When should one be able to store back up a chapter you have read, and why is it important? Does the kind of content you are reading influence this decision? How does this relate to the role of technology in the modern world when it comes to maintaining and accessing information?