Fast Forward outlines their insider’s perspective on market segmentation, pricing, contract negotiation, sales processes, and customer service. This expanded edition offers 25 new success stories that include tips and takeaways from proven experts. Industry-insiders share their best practices, and the book features exclusive advice from more than 30 top-tier B2B startup founders and CEOs, including: Moritz Zimmermann (Hybris, now SAP) - Neil Solomon, co-founder and CEO of CommVault - Brian nominated-day American families. In a study by the UC Irvine Center for Everyday Lives and Families, researchers tracked the daily lives of 32 dualworker middle class Los Angeles families between 2001 and 2004. The results are startling, and enlightening. Fast Forward Family shines on a variety of issues that face American families: the stress-during levels among parents; the problem of excessive clutter in the American home; the importance (and decline) of the family meal; the vanishing boundaries that once separated work and home life; and the challenges for parents as they try to reconcile ideals regarding what it means to be a good parent, a good worker, and a good spouse. There are also moments of connection, affection, and care, it’s evident that life for 21st century working parents is frenetic, with extended work hours, children’s activities, chores, meals to prepare, errands to run, and bills to pay.

Fast Forward Tim Horta 2009-11-24 Life in the modernist era not only moved, it sped. As automobiles, airplanes, and high-speed industrial machinery proliferated at the turn of the twentieth century, a fascination with speed surfaced in art as a source of inspiration and generate new possibilities for everyday existence. Although modernism and avant-garde art have been celebrated as catalysts for rapid social and cultural change, much less attention has been paid to the role that avant-garde artists with an infusion of creative dynamism and crucial momentum for revolutionizing experimental. In Fast Forward Tim Horta presents a detailed examination of the images and concepts of speed that permeated Russian modernist poetry, visual arts, and cinema. His study illustrates how a wide variety of experimental artistic tendencies of the day—such as “raizim” in poetry and painting, the effort to create a “transrational” language (zaum’) in verse, and movements seemingly as divergent as neo-primitivism and constructivism—all relied on notions of speed or dynamism to create at least part of their effects. Fast Forward reveals how the Russian avant-garde’s art was inspired to create the new visual representations of a modernizing nation in a rapidly changing social parameters. The embrace of speed after the 1917 Revolution, however, paradoxically hastened the movement’s demise. By the late 1920s, under a variety of historical pressures, avant-garde artistic forms morphed into those more compatible with the politics of the new state—simplifying the visual landscape, reducing or eliminating text, and ultimately ushering in the socialist realist and aesthetic conformism of the Stalin years.

Fast Forward 2 Lou Anders 2010-03-19 When Fast Forward 1 debuted in February 2007, it marked the first major all-original, all-SF anthology series to appear in some time - and it was met with a huge outpouring of excitement and approbation from the science fiction community. No less than seven stories from Fast Forward 1 were chosen to be reprinted a total of nine times in the four major "Best of the Year" retrospective anthologies, a wonderful testament to the quality of contributions in our inaugural book. What's more, Fast Forward 1 was hailed repeatedly as leading the charge in a return of original, unthemed anthologies series (several more have since made an appearance in our wake). Now the critically-acclaimed, groundbreaking series continues, featuring all new stories from: Paul Cornell Kay Kenyon Chris Nakashima-Brown Nancy Kress Jack Skillingstead Cory Doctorow and Benjamin Rosenbaum (Hear the podcast.) Jack McDevitt Paul McAuley Mike Resnick and Pat Cadigan Ian McDonald Kristine Kathryn Rusch Karl Schroeder and Tobias S. Buckell Jeff Carlson Paolo Bacigalupi
